

SUBMARINE PIRATES BEG FOR AMNESTY FROM ALLIED POWERS

(Correspondence Associated Press)
 LONDON, Feb. 28.—Demand that the 1914 treaty contain a clause of amnesty to German submarine commanders for the outrages committed in the ruthless submarine warfare is voiced by the German press. The Berlin press evidently expects that the allied powers will demand the surrender of the German submarine commanders and present an argument to show why these men should not be punished for the crimes they committed under the sea. The paper gives warning that any attempt to hold them responsible for the murders of innocent persons made for the names of international law.

 "These submarine" asserts the news, "were not responsible for the conduct of submarine warfare or for carrying on the unrestricted submarine warfare. They were acting within the scope of their orders and the commands issued to them. They were not responsible when they simply carried out in a professional way the instructions they had received."
 "If the nations are determined to place the responsibility for the war on certain persons and make them the subject of criminal proceedings an international tribunal would be the only competent court; and before this we gladly await the verdict. England and other members of the Entente, however, will do very well to carefully ponder whether this would serve as a precedent which might be followed after the conclusion of peace to renew the flame of hatred. If this is to be a peace of understanding and reconciliation, the treaty to be concluded must contain the traditional amnesty clause."

A Woman Points the Way

"Save while the money is warm" is the motto of a woman who has established a reputation both for herself and her family by the number of War Savings Stamps she bought without apparently stinting in the least. Here is her system.

"The only way to save is to save. When I have actually saved a quarter I put it into a thrift stamp without delay. If I save that quarter on one thing and then spend it carelessly for something else, I have not saved any real money."

"For example, the other day I went down town expecting to pay $10 for a pair of special shoes. To my surprise, I found there was a sale that day, and got the very pair of shoes I wanted for $7.50. I had saved $2.50. But how to keep it saved. I knew that if I simply recorded it mentally as saving, before the end of the month it would be spent. So I went right down stairs in the store and bought nine thrift stamps and stuck those quarters in the thrift card where they could not get away before the end of the month. I do the same thing when I have saved a single quarter or half dollar, and I am seriously thinking of getting a little penny bank to hold saved pennies or dimes until they grow to thrift stamp size. What is more, I am getting a whole lot of fun out of this most fascinating game, the game of 'Getting Ahead.'"

"Thrift is one of the cornerstones on which mankind must be constructed."—Henry Ford.

Civilization was founded and still rests upon thrift.

Nathaniel's "Jinx" Active.
 Nathaniel Ripple had a terrible experience one afternoon when he was about twelve years old. He opened the doors of the buggy house and was looking the buggy in when the wind blew both doors shut. He propped them open with small sticks, but just as he reached the buggy tongue one of the sticks fell and the doors came around for enough to stop the buggy. A moment later Grandpa Ripple, who had just come down to the barn, said: "What's that you are saying, Nathaniel?"—Kansas City Star.

BRITISH MAKERS SHOWING GOODS

(Correspondence Associated Press)
 LONDON, Feb. 25.—British manufacturers made their best bow this week to the merchants of the world through the fifth annual exposition of the British industries fair. The Pennington street house of the London docks is filled with exhibits of china, glass, fancy goods, paper and toys from 570 factories, and it is expected these exhibits will be visited by thousands of merchants from all parts of the world.

It is a purely British institution, and none but British manufactures are allowed to show their wares. The first purpose of the fair is to obtain business for British factories. All sorts of things are displayed, from the most expensive to the cheapest.

The toy section is a revelation. Once they said in Great Britain, "German children make what British children break," but no more, if one is to judge by the endless variety of toys shown in the fair. There are airplanes, rigid Zepplins, automobiles, games by the dozen, whole families of dolls, fluffy dogs and china cats. In short, everything calculated to delight the child is there. Once about all the toys they had in England came from Germany. Even now some of them come from Japan.

Every buyer is the guest of the house of trade under whose direction the fair is held, and each one is treated with the utmost courtesy. Eighty thousand invitations were issued for the fair, and to the present the attendance has been all that the promoters expected. Last year's fair was successful to a marked degree, resulting in orders amounting to £1,000,000. This year, because of the inroads made on German trade, the business is expected to be even greater.

Little Things That Count.
 Life is made up, not of great sacrifices or duties, but of little things, in which smiles and kindnesses and small obligations, given habitually, are what win and preserve the heart and secure comfort.—Sir Humphrey Davy.

MISSING MEN OF THE WAR TRACED

(By Associated Press)
 WASHINGTON, March 24.—From out of the "Port of Missing Men," hundreds of fighters believed lost by their families are coming back to make the home circle complete again. In 32 newspapers published at debarcation and reconstruction hospitals, there is printed in every issue a column of inquiries from relatives, which is known as the "Port of Missing Men" because it deals with those whom the currents of war carried beyond the reach of family and friends. More than 10,000 such inquiries have been received. The column is scanned daily by thousands of readers, eager to give the latest knowledge of missing comrades.

The "Port of Missing Men" column is open to relatives without charge for inquiries.
